

LAS Seeks Two Attorneys

Family Law Attorney - Nashville Office

Description

Legal Aid Society has an immediate opening for a Family Law attorney in its Nashville office. Attorney will provide legal representation to eligible clients in civil cases, seeking safety and independence. Primary clientele include low-income victims of domestic violence and sexual assault seeking orders of protections, custody, child support, divorce or immigration status as a result of their victimization. As a part of a holistic approach, representation may include varying areas of law as needed to ensure the health and safety of the victim, administrative advocacy, litigation in state and federal courts, and community education for clients. The Nashville office serves Davidson and Williamson counties.

Qualifications

Applicants must be a law school graduate and be admitted to practice in Tennessee or willing to take first available bar examination. Attorney must have a demonstrated interest in public interest law, family law, and issues unique to victims of domestic violence. Applicants should have a commitment to high quality representation and a desire to handle cases that benefit individual clients as well as those impacting their communities. Must have ability to communicate effectively in oral and written form; experienced in public speaking and training others on the law; organized; and work with a team and independently. Experience working under and reporting on an OCJP grant and proficiency with Microsoft Office software and Legal Files database preferred. Fluency in written and spoken Spanish language a plus.

Salary

DOE. Excellent benefits and loan forgiveness.
